A Perfect Laxative

should be mild, prompt, and pleasant, with no griping or purgative effects. It should also induce a healthy action, aid digestion, and relieve the bowels. Like nothing else, Paine's Celery Compound is a perfect laxative, and cures constipation where all other remedies fail.

"As a gentle laxative, Paine's Celery Compound is surely without a peer. I think I ought to know, since I have tried it for many years, and have found nothing that equals it in my case of constipation."

J. B. JENKINS, Teacher, Cloyd's Creek, Tenn.

"Paine's Celery Compound is prompt and pleasant. As a laxative it leaves little to be desired. I have great confidence in its merits."

ALBERT LEONARD, Associate Editor, Journal of Pedagogy, Athens, Ohio.

"For two or three years I suffered intensely every night with severe pains in my bowels, which were habitually constipated. My bowels are now regular, and I have had no return of those pains since using one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound."

Moral: Use Paine's Celery Compound and stop ruining the intestinal tract with harsh purgative pills.

THE SWAMP ANGELS.

Desperadoes Who Ruled Southern Arkansas for Many Years.

Only a few years back, before the railroads penetrated the swamps of Southern Arkansas to disturb them, says a letter to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, desperadoes from all points sought refuge in the depths of these, the most gloomy and inaccessible swamps of this country, and it was only a few years ago that the most notorious of this band of exile criminals first came here, and whose deeds of desperate daring were chronicled the world over in the papers of the land. This was Tom Mitchell, who started life as a farmer boy, and who, by one bad deed to another, soon found himself ostracized from the haunts of man. His first trouble was when a mere boy of seventeen, when, in a drunken brawl, he attempted to kill a companion. He was arrested and tried, but, through some legal technicality, escaped the punishment of the law.

At that time, as it is now, the law of the State was to confiscate all small arms found on prisoners. This was done in Mitchell's case, a pistol which he prized highly being taken from him by the sheriff. This seemed to Mitchell the most fatal blow in his life, and he determined to recover his revolver at the cost of his life if necessary. Going to his home he armed himself heavily and returned to the jail. He called the sheriff out.

"Sheriff, I've come for my gun, and I'll just give you five minutes to get it for me."

The officer, seeing that trouble would ensue if he did not comply, returned the weapon. Matters, however, did not rest there. The friends and relatives of the man who Mitchell had attempted to kill felt bitter toward him, and used every means to draw him into quarrels, which Mitchell was not slow to accept, and the consequence was that at last he was waylaid by three of his enemies about dusk at a lonely part of a country road. Mitchell, all unconscious of his danger, rode into the ambush laid for him. A shot whistled past him. With a bound he reached a large cypress tree. Another crack of a rifle and his left arm fell powerless to his side. Mitchell caught a glimpse of one of the attacking party, at whom he fired three shots rapidly. The last shot killed him.

Another of the men exposed himself, and two shots laid him low. Then seeing the other man, a stranger to him, he called out: "Say, partner, if you will quit I will."

"I'll be hanged if I do," was the reply.

With that he fired at Mitchell, who, stepping from his place of concealment, raised his rifle and shot his antagonist through the heart. Now it was the boy of seventeen became a desperado man. Knowing that he could no longer live at home, he determined to retreat into the swamps. Posses after posse was dispatched after him, but they found it impossible to capture him. Mitchell was shortly joined by two men who had been equally unsuccessful in restraining their ungovernable tempers. These were Campbell and Cummins. They banded themselves together, and, retreating into the depths of the swamps surrounding the St. Francis river, swore that they should ever live between the St. Francis and the Mississippi rivers, and for a number of years they kept their oath, styling themselves the "swamp angels."

About one hundred yards from the depot at this place is their old fortification, and upon a large white gum tree a cross was cut by an axe to designate the crossing. The most hardy woodmen still refuse to penetrate into the depths of these forests of cypress, and the dark swampy ground is seldom trod by human feet. It is still the home of the bear and the panther, the wild turkey and deer.

Some years have passed since the "swamp angels" were monarchs of the gloomy waste. Mitchell was at last captured, and died in prison. Campbell, who was considered the most gentlemanly of the trio, is farming not many miles from the marked tree, and Cummins is a laborer. Both of the survivors are now leading a peaceable life, but rarely come to the settlements, and few who meet them would think they were once the famous "swamp angels" who were the terror of the settlers of Southern Arkansas.

Gravely as an Expectant.

It is claimed in the Polytechnic that in cases of pneumonia where there is great embarrassment of breathing from accumulation of secretion in the bronchial tubes great benefit may often be derived by inverting the patient and having him cough violently while in this position. It is easily accomplished by a strong assistant standing at the patient's head, seizing the sick man's ankles, turning him with his face downward, and then lifting his feet four or five feet above the level of the mattress. If the patient, with his face over the edge of the bed and his legs thus held aloft, will cough vigorously two or three times, he will get rid of much expectation that the exhaustive efforts at coughing failed to dislodge when not thus aided by gravity. Life has been saved by repeated performances of this maneuver in pneumonia accompanied with great cramps, due to inundation of the bronchial tubes with mucous secretion.

Bismarck's Repartee.

Prince Bismarck maintains that the acquisition of languages does not imply talent. He thinks the ear rather than the mind is cultivated by a linguist. A Consul recently appointed to Berlin pestered his Minister to present him to Bismarck. At length an interview was granted, and, throwing etiquette aside, the Consul brought his son with him. Bismarck looked annoyed, but the Consul boldly presented his heir, with the remark: "A most remarkable young man, your Highness—he speaks several languages." "What a fine waiter the young fellow would make," said Bismarck, coldly, to the Minister at his side.

FUN IN A BANK.

Laughable Incidents That Occur in the Centers of Money-Handling.

No one would imagine, to glance in upon the grave-faced business fellows who are the tellers and cashiers of banks, that they had, during working hours, any chance to make merry. Yet, says the New York Graphic, it seems that they have their share of fun even in the midst of their most important duties.

"Do funny things occur around a bank?" said one of the grave-looking of the boys in the Park Bank the other day. "Well, I should say so. Most people have an idea that there is nothing except what is prosaic and commonplace in the banking business, but they are altogether wrong. Some of the funniest scenes I ever witnessed happened right here in this bank. I'll give you a sample. Years ago a man whom we will call Jim Simpson, because that wasn't his name, was one of the depositors. Jim was a character. He kept a tavern for miles out of the city, and did a brisk business. He was a Yorkshire Englishman, stoutly built and over six feet high, with a ruddy face and keen, twinkling eyes.

"Jim used to come in every Saturday and deposit his receipts of the week, of $200 or $300. Well, he invariably went through the same performance. Standing by a desk near the teller's window he would take out his big pocket-book, draw out his roll of bills and begin counting them over, leaving the teller, two, three and four times in a separate pile. Then he would pick up the fives, lay them crosswise of the tens, count them again, put the tens across, go through the same process until he satisfied himself that his count was correct. It often took him fifteen or twenty minutes to get his money arranged in shape for depositing.

"One day, when he had an unusually large amount of money spread out before him, a stranger entered the bank, walked up to Jim without saying a word, nudged the old man with his elbow, and pointed to the floor under the desk. The old fellow supposed, of course, that he had dropped a bill, and stooped down to look for it. Quick as a flash the other man swept the pile of bills off the desk, crammed them into his pocket and was out in the street before Jim had time to straighten up. He looked around, saw the retreating stranger, then looked at the place where his money had been, and broke into a loud and hearty laugh. 'Well, I'll be hanged!' said he, then laughed more noisily than ever.

"None of us in the bank had noticed what was going on, and we had no idea what the old man was laughing at. I never saw a person more amused than he appeared to be. He had, however, told the wall a fair joke. It was some time before he recovered his gravity sufficiently to explain what had occurred. He was so greatly struck with the ridiculous nature of the trick that had been played upon him that he seemed to regard it as more than an equivalent for the money he had lost.

"Another man who used to have an account here, whenever he drew any money, always asked for 'small bills, twos and threes,' and he kept up the practice years and years after three-dollar bills ceased to be issued. He kept some Government bonds here and came around at regular intervals to request us to 'cut off' them there coupons for him."

"You have read, perhaps, of the countryman who bought a draft to pay a note which was about due at some bank in a distant city, put the paper in his pocket, imagined it to be a receipt, and only dreamed of his mistake when he received notice that his note was about to be protested. I have known just such cases myself. But people may joke as they like about the country folks; I had much rather do business with men who than some of the smart city men who imagine that they know every thing and seem to think a cashier is woefully ignorant if he says he doesn't know them."

"An amusing thing took place in our bank a few days ago. A laboring man had been given a check by a well-known contractor, and came in to get his money. I told him he must be identified. The man started, not having the faintest idea what the word meant."

"'Do you mean vaccinated?' he asked."

"'No, no,' I replied, after turning away to laugh. 'Bring some one who knows you, or you are the person named in the check. We can't pay money to people we don't know.'"

"The man departed and returned in about fifteen minutes accompanied by his wife. He seemed heartily surprised when I told him that her identity was all that was needed, and that he must bring some body who was known to the people in the bank. After I had wasted half an hour making explanations the maker of the check happened to drop in and I got rid of my troublesome visitor."

"I have seen men get so angry over a polite request that they may be identified that they would actually tear up their checks, meanwhile denouncing loudly the man who paid his debts with worthless pieces of paper instead of cash."

"There are many number of people, sometimes, I think, as many as nine out of ten, who seem to think it no crime to cheat a bank. If there is a streak of meanness anywhere in a man's nature it will crop out when he is put to the test on a question of money. Sometimes I have amused myself by experimenting with men to find out whether they were honest. There is an easy way of ascertaining. For instance, a depositor hands in his bank-book, together with a 'number of bills and asks for the amount of which is to be placed to his credit."

"He has made out a deposit ticket, which he holds in his hand while I count the money. 'How much?' I ask. 'What do you make it?' he inquires. I name a sum of dollars or ten dollars larger than I have ascertained the amount to be. If the man is honest he will say that he thinks I am mistaken; but often he will turn around and make out another deposit ticket, fixing the amount to correspond with the figure I have given. Then, of course, I count the cash again and announce that I have made a mistake, and to prove it hand back the money and let him recount it. Men who nobody would ever suspect of crookedness are often very quick to take advantage of a little mistake in their favor. I know several wealthy gentlemen who I truly believe would never think of paying any sum, large or small, that got into their hands through a bank clerk's mistake."

Arsenic as a Cosmetic.

The deleterious effect of arsenic upon the skin was recently discussed in the Pathological Society of London, after a communication had been read by Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson. The skin is the tissue on which arsenic has, perhaps, its most marked influence. The poison may spoil the complexion instead of improving it by making it muddy and unsightly. A similar action is exhibited in all parts of the skin, and may lead to the development of soft corns, not warts, on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, where a roughened condition also grows up under its influence. Mr. Hutchinson also expressed the belief that arsenic can produce epithelial cancer.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

At a recent meeting of a Chicago political science club, there was discussed the subject party fealty, or rather one phase of it. The duty of every citizen to do his own thinking and to be loyal to his own convictions of duty in politics, as in everything else, was strongly brought out. There can be no rational dispute on that point. A political organization is not a job to be worshiped blindly and followed slavishly. But there is another phase to this subject of party fealty which seems to have escaped the attention of the Chicagoites. We refer to the protection afforded society from malefactors in office by the restraints integrally incident to such fealty. The public service would be hopelessly demoralized if it were not for that sense of loyalty to party and the disciplinary power of political organization—the party lash, if you please.

The office-holders of this country, says the Oakland Times, constitute a mighty host that no man can number. The Government blue book, two large volumes, neatly printed, gives the list of Federal officers; but no attempt was ever made to catalogue all the State, county, city, town and village officials in the United States. There cannot be less than a half million of them. At least a rough guess at those figures would not be unreasonable. An actual count would be likely to go over rather than under that amount in a grand total. When the number of these office-holders is considered it is a matter of surprise and congratulation that cases of malfeasance are so few, and that the general average of fidelity and efficiency is so high. The secret of this good record lies largely in the fact that nearly every office-holder has a political party behind him which is directly interested in his good behavior. With exceptions most rare, he owes his position to partisan favor. He stands before his constituents as the representative of the party to which he is indebted for his office, and whether that office be high or humble, his discharge of its duties will weaken or strengthen the organization according to the satisfaction he gives.

SOME interesting statistics have been compiled recently, showing the amount of water used in American cities. These have been compiled probably on account of the interest awakened through the East in the struggle of New York to increase its water supply. The inhabitants of Philadelphia, for instance, are reported to use at present 100 gallons of water per capita; whereas, in 1880 they used 80 gallons; in 1860, 56 gallons, and in 1830 but 17 gallons. This, of course, indicates not only an increased personal use of water, but a large increase of use for mechanical purposes. The policy of large cities, and for that matter the policy of our home source of supply, is not to restrict the quantity used, but to increase the supply as a very positive sanitary measure, preventing the development of conditions favorable to scarlet fever, diphtheria and cholera.

ONE of the sure tokens of returning activity in the commercial world is a general and perceptible improvement in the railroad traffic of the country. Reports from all sections show an increase of force and a revival of business on the leading lines, which suffered from a depression of trade caused by the open winter, and the consequent small demand for fuel. With the large movement of population which is taking place in the United States this spring, and with the fine prospects for crops all over the land, the present year promises to be one of great prosperity for the railroads.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Important Evidence Discovered.
CHICAGO, May 25.—The only man who heard Dr. Cronin's dying cries except his murderers has been found. He is William Merles, a milkman, who lives near the cottage where the assassination was committed.

On the night of the murder he saw two men drive up to the cottage in a buggy. One was dressed in a long brown overcoat such as Cronin wore. He got out, and the other, answering the description of the man who came for Cronin in a buggy, drove rapidly away. Cronin, if it was he, went up to the cottage steps. The door was opened before he reached it, and as soon as he got inside it was closed, when the milkman heard loud cries as if men were fighting, and it is believed then was the time of death.

The revelations this morning throw strong suspicion of complicity in the murder of Cronin, a detective Dan Coughlin of the city police force, and show gross incompetency, if nothing worse, of Captain Schaack of the North Side police, under whose orders Coughlin works.

To begin with, it is known, in fact he admits it, that Coughlin and Cronin were members of the same Irish political societies and were enemies. This lends significance to the following facts: On the morning of the day of the murder Coughlin engaged from a livery stable keeper named Dinan a horse and buggy, for a friend of his, to be called for that evening. About the time when the man who decoyed Cronin away would have called, had it been he, this friend of Coughlin called at the livery stable. He closely resembled the man who did drive away with Cronin. He was given a white horse, and he drove toward Coughlin's house. The horse was out two hours and came back, having been hard driven. These facts were reported to Captain Schaack by Dinan. Schaack says he called Coughlin to account, and Coughlin said the man he hired the buggy for was a friend of his friend in Michigan; that he sent Coughlin out to find this man; that Coughlin reported that he found and questioned him and was satisfied he had nothing to do with it. Schaack admits that he did not require that man to be brought before him, but allowed Coughlin, who was himself under suspicion, to make his report without any check to prove its truth or falsity. Schaack says he took his horse to Cronin's house and his housekeeper said it was not the one behind which Cronin drove away. The housekeeper told him he could not find the man from Michigan. Coughlin says he is now in New Mexico.

A Jail-Break Frustrated.
JERSEY CITY, May 24.—A plot was unearthed this morning for a general delivery of the convicts confined in the Hudson County Penitentiary at Snake Hill. The attention of two Deputy Wardens being attracted by suspicious conferences between five long-term prisoners, a search was made of the cells occupied by the convicts, and the investigation resulted in the discovery of nineteen files, six knives, five saws, ten drills, a pair of compasses and other articles. The files were smuggled into the prison from the outside, and the other tools were made by convict blacksmiths now at liberty. A set of keys made of lead, found in the pocket of one of the convicts involved, would have readily opened the doors of the cells and that of the corridors.

The men were at once put in close confinement and for some time will subsist on bread and water. Other prisoners are believed to be implicated, and a searching investigation is now in progress.

Mormons Going North.
HELENA, Montana, May 24.—Since last night a considerable number of emigrants have been passing through Montana, en route to the British possessions, traveling by wagon. It has been ascertained that they are Mormons from Utah and Idaho, and their destination is the country through which the railroad passes. Some time ago the Albert Railway & Coal Company was approached by an agent of the Mormon hierarchy with a proposition to buy several thousand acres of the company's land in the Northwest Territory upon which to settle a colony of saints. The negotiations were finally completed about a month ago, but it is not known what the consideration was nor just how many acres had been purchased. The deal was a large one, however, and the province is likely to have a very large Mormon population soon.

Quick Work.
DALLAS, Tex., May 25.—As the east-bound passenger train on the Texas & Pacific railroad reached the outskirts of the city last night two masked men with drawn revolvers entered the express car, beat the messenger, robbed the safe of $1,500 and escaped.

Riot Fears.
SLATONVILLE, Ill., May 25.—The striking coal miners from the neighboring towns have ordered the force of men in the mines here to stop work. A serious riot is expected. The Sheriff telegraphed to Princeton for help, and the City Marshal and a posse are on the way here.

Braidwood, Ill., May 25.—Yesterday the striking coal miners exploded bombs on the property of the Wilmington Coal Company. The Sheriff telegraphed Governor Fifer that the condition was critical, and asked that a regiment of militia be held in readiness in case of need. The Governor replied that the military would be called out if necessary. It is not believed that an attempt will be made to resume work before Monday, however, and that serious trouble will be averted till then.

A Bitter Feeling.
PARIS, May 25.—3 P. M.—The Bourse became flat this afternoon on receipt of the intelligence that King Humbert and Emperor William proposed to visit Strasburg. The statement caused the bitterest feeling and three per cent. rentes have fallen to 86 francs and 97½ centimes, a decline of 42½ centimes from the opening. Italian rentes are 97 francs.

4:30 P. M.—Three per cent. rentes closed at 86 and 85 cent for account.

BERLIN, May 25.—King Humbert and Emperor William will go to Strasburg to-morrow. They will view the entire garrison and Humbert will proceed homeward from Strasburg.

The Evictors Scolded.
DUBLIN, May 24.—The work of evicting tenants was continued on the Olliphant estate to-day. The evictors met with desperate resistance. During the struggle Inspector Duffy was badly wounded. The tenants had erected barricades around their houses, and from behind these defences they hurled stones and other missiles at the attacking party. Boiling water was also thrown upon the evictors, and a number of policemen and bailiffs were badly scalded. The police arrested fourteen persons.

Must Go to Trial.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Judge Hoffman to-day sustained the demurrer of the United States Attorney to the pleas of abatement entered by Judge David S. Terry and wife, who claimed that the indictments against them by the Grand Jury had not been read by the jury before presented; also, that the jury was incompetent and not qualified. The Judge held that Terry and wife must plead to the indictments and go to trial.

The Salt Syndicate.
LONDON, May 25.—Welling Burt of Michigan and Chas. Burger of New York, representatives of the movement to unify the American salt interests, sailed to-day. The English Salt Union entered into an alliance with them, which assures harmonious relations between the English and American market, and the full financial support required.

Death of Laura Bridman.
BOSTON, May 24.—Laura Bridman, deaf, dumb and blind from two years of age—made widely famous by Chas. Dickens in his "American Notes," also by many public references to her wonderful intelligence—died to-day at the South Boston Asylum, where she has long dwelt, aged 60.

An Appointment—A River Trip.
WASHINGTON, May 25.—The President appointed Robert C. Spooner of Wisconsin Consul at Sprague. He is a brother of Senator Spooner.

The President and party started down the Potomac river this afternoon on Wananaker's yacht, and will return on Monday.

Presents His Credentials—Boulanger's Policy.
LONDON, May 25.—Robert Lincoln, the American Minister, went to Windsor this afternoon and presented his credentials to the Queen.

At a meeting of Boulanger's supporters in this city, it was decided to contest all the elections in France.

Another Episcopal Diocesan.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—At to-day's session of the Episcopal Convention for California it was formally decided to divide the State, which has heretofore formed one diocese, into two dioceses. One will compose the northern portion of the State, the other the southern portion.

An Eastern "Black Bart."
SHAGONA, Wis., May 25.—Last night the Langdale stage was held up by a robber near this place, who, with cocked revolvers, held at bay a dozen passengers and compelled the driver to throw out the mail sacks and drive on. The amount secured is unknown.

A Concurrence.
NEW YORK, May 25.—At the morning session of the General Assembly a telegram was read from the Southern Assembly announcing a concurrence in the amendments made to the report of the Co-operation Committee on Church Work.

A British War Ship.
NEW YORK, May 25.—The British man-of-war Buzzard arrived here this morning. The Buzzard is attached to the British North American and West Indian squadron.

Looks Like Business.
NEW YORK, May 25.—The steamer Alvena sailed for Greytown, Nicaragua, to-day, carrying the first batch of men and machinery for the construction of the inter-ocean canal.

Bank Statement.
NEW YORK, May 25.—Weekly bank statement: Reserve increase, $973,725; specie decrease, $1,287,000. Total bank now hold $13,231,000 in excess of the rule.

The Week's Exports.
NEW YORK, May 25.—The exports of specie from New York during the week amounted to $4,817,000, of which $4,093,000 was in gold.

A Portuguese Bomb-Thrower.
LISBON, May 25.—A dynamite bomb was exploded at the door of the civil Governor's house at Oporto to-day, smashing the window.

Suffering at Panama.
PANAMA, May 24.—The unfortunate consequences of the canal smash are becoming more apparent every day, and the deplorable condition of affairs has but one outlet, and that by emigration. The Commissioner sent by the Jamaican Government has already sent away 4,000 persons and issued tickets for 3,000 more, and these will leave by the earliest steamers. People are congregating at the different depots with their tickets in their hands, but without food and almost without shelter, and the tropical wet season is in its full energy. After all the distressed foreigners shall have been removed there will still be much suffering and want here, which cannot be even ameliorated until the resumption of work in January next shall have put money in circulation.

AN ARIZONA STABBING.
What is Known of the Parties in Nevada.

Peter Perasich fatally stabbed James Lacey at the Contention mine at Tombstone, A. T., May 22.—Dispatch.

James Lacey is a cousin of the wife of Judge Kehoe and a cousin of Bryan Lacey, a well-known miner here, says the Virginia Enterprise, and mined here himself for several years. He was a large man, weighing about 230 pounds, and possessed of a peaceable disposition. He was for years night foreman of the Contention mine at Tombstone, and lately has been watchman. Judge Kehoe does not believe that he has been fatally stabbed, on the ground that he has a sister in Tombstone who would surely telegraph, as on a former occasion when he was hurt in the mine she did so. James is a single man and worth upward of $20,000 in coin.

Peter Perasich is also known in this section of country. He was a guard at the State Prison in 1882, during the emute, and was shot by a prisoner as he was in full retreat toward town—just because he was despised.

A man named Ashlin, son of Sol Ashlin, formerly a prosperous merchant of Eureka, Nevada, killed a brother of Peter Perasich at Darwin about the year 1873 or '74. The affair was the result of certain business transactions at Panamint between them. Ashlin was acquitted by the able efforts of Patrick Reddy, if we remember right. Anyway, the Perasich brothers, of whom Peter was one, who then belonged in Carson, waylaid a stage in which they believed Ashlin was and fired a few shots into it—not far from Carson. Ashlin, under protection of an officer, was in hiding in a ditch not far away, and making a short cut through the country.

BISHOP POTTER CRITICIZED.
What Jay Gould Has to Say About Public Men.

Among the comments of Bishop Potter's Centennial sermon, perhaps none is more interesting than that of Jay Gould, who in a long interview in the World takes exception to the Bishop's position. He thinks we have as pure and noble men in public life and trade to-day as ever have been born and developed in any country on the face of the earth. Great men in the time of Washington, he says, were as pure as the poplars, and as simple as the big tree men made a great show. There has been immense progress in science, art and labor. Has the science of government, he asks, retrograded? Mr. Gould replies in the negative. There are few more forcible and entertaining talkers in this country than Gould, and there is no doubt that he is right, unless it be Chauncey M. Depew, who turns aside on occasion, such good "interviews."

J. G. Can Stand It.
A while ago a friend in Tacoma, W. T., wrote to John G. Whitler that they had named a street after him out there and an adjacent street after Mrs. Langtry. The good old Quaker poet wrote back: "As to the incongruity of the association, I can stand it if Mrs. Langtry can. She may have as much objection to a Quaker as I have to an actress. I wish I were young and strong enough to visit your lovely city and see the sunsets and sunsets on the snow crown of Tacoma."

Virginia Politics.
It is reported that a good prospect exists of healing the breach between the Republican factions in Virginia. If accomplished the State next Fall will very likely go Republican, if no side issues come in to break party lines. The Old Dominion would be an imposing leader for the Southern Republican column of the future.

Getting Rid of Bad Americans.
Mormons are reported pouring through Montana into the Canadian Northwest to settle lands which they have recently acquired there. The Dominion will lose and we shall gain by this movement.

Clear the Way.
Without loss of time when the intestinal canal is blocked up by reason of constipation, chronic or temporary. It should be born in mind that this ailment is prone to become lasting and obstinate, and breed other and worse complaints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the precise remedy to remove the obstruction effectually, but without drenching or weakening the blocked bowels; a consequence always to be apprehended from the use of violent laxatives, which are among the most pernicious of the cheap nostrums swallowed by the credulous and misinformed. The list of experience, and of the medical fraternity, sanction the claims of this standard. Not only as a resource of relief and permanent regularity of the bowels, liver and stomach, but as a means of remedying and preventing kidney and bladder troubles, and fever and ague, it is without a peer.

Notice of Dissolution.
THE PARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE existing between Mrs. D. McKissick and L. Wilson is hereby dissolved, L. Wilson retiring. Mrs. D. McKissick will continue the business, collecting all moneys outstanding and paying all bills against the firm.

An extra fine hot soup lunch can be had tomorrow at George Becker's Granite saloon, where also is to be had the celebrated Pacific and Fredericks beer.

Go to John Fraser's Virginia street market for a Sunday dinner of beef, mutton, veal or pork. He also keeps the finest corner meats to be had in town.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks a epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are afflicted with any disease of the Kidneys or Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by the use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at Hodgkinson's drug store.

In Three Days.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism, but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right today, and I would urge on everyone who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Hodgkinson's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free; large size, $1. Every bottle warranted.

EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE: Please announce in the columns of your valuable paper that we are sole agents for St. Patrick's Pills, the most perfect cathartic and liver pills in the market. They not only purge, but cleanse the whole system; purify the blood and regulate the liver and bowels; they are vigorous but gentle in their action, and can always be depended upon. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, flatulence, belching, flatulency, nausea, pains in the shoulders and breast. Dr. Hensley's Dandelion Tonic promotes healthy digestion and removes all unhealthy symptoms. Sold by William Fininger.

It should be generally known that Dr. Hensley's Dandelion Tonic insures a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and lowers the fever of the system and energy and wakefulness, and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by William Fininger.

RENO TO CELEBRATE.

A small but enthusiastic meeting starts the ball—a glorious time predicted.

At the Fourth of July meeting held at McKissick's Opera House last evening Hon. H. H. Beck was elected Chairman and Allen C. Bragg Secretary. Mr. Beck stated that the spirit of '76 had taken possession of him, and he, like all good citizens, felt like celebrating the Fourth of July. He said Reno had joined Carson and Virginia for two or three years and helped swell the crowds that visited at those places, and he thought this year Reno should properly observe the day, and said that $1,000 or $1,200 ought to be money enough to do it properly. On motion it was resolved that Reno should celebrate, and C. W. Booton moved that a committee of three be appointed to canvass the town and see if the money could be raised. The motion was put and carried, and the Chair appointed C. W. Booton, John Sunderland and C. J. Brooks such committee. On motion, Clem Lemery, J. J. Grant and the Chairman were added. A list was started, and in about ten minutes $240 was subscribed, when the meeting adjourned, to meet at the same place Monday evening to hear their report and make the necessary arrangements for celebration.

Up to 3:30 this afternoon the Fourth of July Committee had secured $445 and had not interviewed more than one-third of the business men of the town.

WHAT A BLAST DID.

Giant Powder Creates a Flow of Water.

Last week employees of Yerington & Bliss, in excavating for a logging road on the side of the mountain near Bijou, Lake Tahoe, had occasion to remove the stump of a fallen tree, which was blown out of the ground by firing a blast of giant powder placed under the butt of the stump. The firing of the blast was followed by a flow of water five inches in diameter, which spouted up to a great height, and is still flowing without any diminution in its original volume. The water is clear as crystal, cold as ice and free from all impurities. The water flow washed down a vast body of quicksand, and it was necessary to divert the course of the proposed road from the line of the original survey.

PRODUCTIVE FRUIT COUNTRY.

The "Advocate" Wants Lower Freight Rates.

The N. & C. has brought in 540 tons of apples and other fruit from Honey Lake valley since last fall. Who says Honey Lake is not a fruit-producing country?—GAZETTE.

The amount which was sent away does not by any means compare with the hundreds of tons which rotted on the ground or were fed to stock. If the N. & C. had made a decent rate on apples it would have had as many thousands tons as it actually did have hundreds.

Plenty of Water and Grass.

Hon. T. B. Riekey, who came in from the south on last evening's V. & T., and who has just returned from an extended tour through the southwestern part of the State, informed a GAZETTE reporter that he never saw the feed so good nor stock of all kinds looking so fine at this time in the year. He reports that from Genoa southward there is a boundless supply of snow; that on the Sonora road at the head of Walker river it is now ten feet deep, and that on Thursday of this week the water was higher in Walker river than for five years.

Miss Their Bacon.

Frank Whittier and his wife Anna, says the Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union, who left Gainesville for Liberia about a year ago, are disgusted with that country and want to get back. They write to friends in this city that they have not seen a piece of bacon since they arrived there; that the only meat they have is bear and monkey; that times are hard, and that labor is paid for in trade. They advise colored people to keep away from Liberia.

The Carson River Wood-Drive.

The Genoa Courier says: Sam Longbaugh expects to arrive at Dayton in a few days with a drive of 15,000 cords of wood. J. H. Martin's wood, now being flumed into West Fork near Walley's Springs, was turned into the main river with Mr. Longbaugh's wood last Saturday evening. There are 40,000 cords in the two drives.

State Land Office.

During the week ending May 24th, twelve applications for State land were filed, embracing 921.13 acres.

CASH RECEIPTS.

Payments at time of application..... $50 30
Payments on contracts..... 24 64
Interest payments..... 98 84
Total..... $513 58

Crop Prospects.

James Miller informs the GAZETTE that the prospects for large crops of hay and grain have not been so good in Sierra Valley for many years as they are to-day. Plenty of water in the streams will make good crops, and Mr. Miller reports them running high full.

Business at Lake Tahoe.

G. N. Folsom was in Carson yesterday. He reports lively times at his new logging camp and quite a town growing up at that most beautiful portion of the lake shore. Ernest Folsom is running things at the incline, which place is also very lively.

Fast Shearing.

P. M. Batchelder of Reno sheared 192 sheep on May 22d at Ford's corral, seven miles from Eureka, Nevada. The fleeces were all of yearlings and were a twelve months' clip. H. E. Case sheared 172 the same day, but he did not in a full day.

The Literary Society.

The Literary Society met at the residence of Mrs. S. D. King last evening. The subject under discussion was Dante's "Inferno," and a very pleasant evening was had.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

Susaville has a spelling school. The Carson river is higher now than at any time since 1885. The Adventists are drawing well at their tent just to the north of their church.

Dr. Dawson last evening successfully removed a tumor from John Belz's left jaw.

Seventeen bars of Con. V. A. bullion were sent below last evening per Wells, Fargo & Co.

The Genoa Courier reports a slight shock of an earthquake at that place last Sunday morning.

The recent rise in the Carson river obliged the Dayton Dredging Company to suspend operations.

During the absence of Conductor Bray of the V. & T. local, Robert Costello will run that train.

Yesterday's East-bound overland carried one small and six large seals, consigned to New York parties.

The Glenbrook mills, which were compelled to shut down on account of the late storms, will start up again in a few days.

Civil Engineer Kyles' U. P. outfit, who have been surveying west from Beckwith's pass, came in last evening and were paid off.

The remains of Mrs. Mary Rourke, who recently died in San Francisco, arrived this morning on the way to Virginia City for burial.

The Susanville Advocate is informed that several thousand tons more may be cut this year than last in Willow Creek Valley.

The Ligan stage now leaves Susanville at six in the morning and returns at nine in the evening, on account of a change in the N. & C. time card.

Four large cases of tame pigeons arrived from below this morning on the way to Empire, where there is to be a wing shooting match to-morrow.

Isador Cohn of Sheridan, Douglas county, warns M. Harris that unless he quits interfering with his business that he will be taken into court.

Black leg has made its appearance among the cattle in Elko county. C. B. Leddick of Lamelle lost eleven head with the dreaded disease in one day last week.

The Advocate says that fruit and grain, and in fact all kinds of crops are growing very rapidly in this weather.

Haying in some parts of the county will be two weeks earlier than usual.

This is the season of the year when many Reno residents walk in the middle of the street in preference to wearing rubber boots and wading through irrigation ditches on the sidewalk.

The Genoa Courier is authority for the statement that Jimmie Green has purchased the printing material of the Alpine Argus and will commence the publication of a paper at Markleville about the 1st of June.

"A BUNCH OF KEYS."

A Fine Company to Appear at McKissick's Opera House.

Hoyt's "Bunch of Keys" Company appear at McKissick's Opera House to-night. This company is one of the very best on the road, and if you want to enjoy an evening go to-night and hear them. They have plenty of stage room to show off their scenery, and will be much better than when they were here before and played at the old theater. The San Francisco Call says: The new Bush-street Theater had an enthusiastic audience gathered together to see Hoyt's first work, and one which has proved successful ever since, entitled, "A Bunch of Keys, or The Hotel." It proved to be the same old favorite, the only newness being the introduction of new gags, songs and dances, which in many instances were taking and received encores. The company gathered together is a very good one, having considerable variety, each of the performers doing their work with considerable snap, and investing their roles with the humor intended. "The Keys"—"Teddy," "Rose" and "May"—were well presented by the Misses Louise Standford, Ada Stanhope, Bessie and Nellie Bowers, while "Dolly Dobbs" played by Bertie Conway, was full of life. Miss Edwards had the spinstery character of "Matilda Jenkins," neatly acted "Grimes" in the hands of James B. Mackie, Charles Burke as "Snags" and Harry Barker as "Spowers," made fun in every moment, and kept the audience in a roar whenever they were on the stage. The balance of the cast was in good hands. "Razzele Dazzele" was introduced in the second act, meeting with generous applause, and redemanded many times. There is plenty of light and catchy music which the company give, and which makes the piece a "go." The "Bunch of Keys" will do a good business for its engagement, considering the warmth of its reception last evening, both in attendance and applause given.

Secure your seats and take it in so you can laugh and drive away the blues.

Good News for Candelaria.

S. P. Warren and G. H. Gill of New York, owners of the Columbia mine at Candelaria, came in from the East this morning and proceeded South. The mine is a valuable one, and has a compartment shaft down 420 feet. These gentlemen have spent $125,000 on the property, which has been in litigation for several years. The legal questions involved have all been settled, and the mine will be started up on the 1st of June.

A Bank for Susanville.

The Advocate says: Mr. Meyer came up from San Francisco last week, and called a meeting in Mr. Dodge's office to discuss the advisability of establishing a bank here. The inducements appear to have been satisfactory, for there is no doubt, we understand, that a bank will be established here at once. D. Knoch has taken $5,000 stock. A. Otto $1,000 and others have also subscribed.

Forsythe's Well.

Yesterday the well borers at Jack Forsythe's place in Long Valley were down 125 feet and in blue clay. They were going down at the rate of a rod an hour when the GAZETTE's informant left, with indications of a flow being encountered any minute.

ARIZONA "KICKER."

The Amusements of Editorial Life Not Forgotten.

The last issue of the Arizona Kicker contains the following: We have been offered $25 in cash and a barrel of wild plum vinegar to publish the record of the man who runs the weekly further down this street. While there is no doubt in our mind that he is a bigamist, horse-thief, barn-burner and anarchist sympathizer, we know what belongs to decency, and we positively refuse the offer.

There is too much mud throwing among the editors of the West, anyway. They seem to have forgotten what is due the position. If one of our doctors kills a patient by some mistake the rest are ready to swear him clear. If one of the editorial fraternity makes a trip the rest are eager to pitch into him. It shouldn't be so. There should be more of the fraternal spirit—more of the pride of profession. Therefore, while we are perfectly satisfied that the bald-headed, bow-legged, eight-eyed old cynic who calls himself the editor of the moribund dispatch squand doors below ought to be in State Prison for life, we are not going to forget the amenities of editorial life.

A Monster Equine.

There is now on exhibition at Portland Or., a horse weighing nearly 3,000 pounds. He is five years old, stands 20½ hands high, measures 32 inches around his arm, 45 inches around his chest, 7 feet 11 inches girth, 34½ inches around his hip, and 11 feet 6 inches in length. His head is 36 inches long, 11 inches longer than a flour barrel. He is a Clydesdale, and is absolutely perfect in proportion.

Strange Cause of Suicide.

William H. Downs of San Francisco committed suicide at Castroville yesterday. It is said he was disappointed because his family refused to go to his ranch eighteen miles south of San Miguel and live.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Startling Business Proposition.

When Mrs. Fowler, of 327 Ellis street, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect "The California Remedy," Joy's Vegetable Sanifera, would have in cases of dyspepsia and sick headaches, she was assured it would relieve both. She was so incredulous that the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it effected a cure. The following is the convincing conclusion.

San Francisco, February 8, 1889.

DEAR SIR: Notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sanifera did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not a return of either since. I believe I am permanently cured. You have my permission to make this public for a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully,

Mrs. M. Fowler.

An Expression of Delight.

"About a week ago," says a Los Angeles, Cal., druggist, "a Chinaman came in with a lame shoulder. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and guaranteed that it would cure him. He came in again last night, and as soon as he got inside the door began to swing his arms over his head like an Indian club swinger. I thought the blamed fool had a fit, but he finally stopped long enough to say: 'Medicine velly fine, velly fine, alle same make me feel plenty good.' Chamberlain's Pain Balm is without an equal for sprains, rheumatism, aches, pains or lame back. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker."

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves Croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For Lane Back, Side or Chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker.

It was maintained by the late Horace Greeley that "nothing succeeds like success!" If this be true, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will always be popular, as it never fails. It is especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and is undoubtedly the best and most reliable medicine in use for those diseases. It is decidedly a success. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being in some instances the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Weibost State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by William Fininger.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Hodgkinson & Co., deadweight.

This is the season of the year when the raw cold winds create and have with the hands and complexion. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be secured by the frequent application of Dand's Specific. It rubbed into the skin will leave no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by William Fininger.

A FAMOUS BATTLE-GROUND.
On the banks of the Tippecanoe, a small stream which enters the Wa-shoe River in Indiana, was fought the terrible battle of Tippecanoe.
In this great struggle of frontier times, the allied western Indians under the chieftainship of Elskawatawa, the "Froggie," were defeated in November, 1811, by the Americans under the command of Gen. Wm. H.
Harrison.
It was a desperate, hard-fought battle, and much depended upon the result.
Had the Indians been successful,
all barriers of defence for the early settlers would have been overthrown and the deadly tomahawk would have been active in the rapid extirpation of the remaining pioneers.
On the other hand the fortunate termination of the contest put an end to further attempts at open warfare by the Indians. The rich territory, so long overrun by hostile savages, was thrown open for settlement, which rapidly occurred as soon as the news of the great victory became widespread.
Naturally great praise was rendered to the success and intrepid bravery of Gen. Harrison and he was honored in many ways. He afterwards served as Commander of the Army of the Northwest, and when Indiana was admitted to Statehood, he was selected to represent the State in the United States Senate. In 1840 he was elected President and his unfortunate demise occurred shortly after being inaugurated.
The forty-second anniversary of the battle of Tippecanoe found the gallant grand-son of "Old Tip" leading his forces to a great political victory which resulted in the election of Gen.
Ben. Harrison as President of the United States.
The Harrisons have been a hardy race of men, sprung from old log cabin stock, which is a sufficient guarantee of its genuineness wherever found. Realizing the truth of this, great effort has been made to rediscover some of the secrets contained in the old log cabin stock of useful articles, and as the result, the famous Old Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, universally regarded as the best Spring tonic and blood cleanser has been found. Not satisfied with the worldwide esteem which is held for Warner's Safe Cure, the only cure for kidney diseases, the proprietor is willing to do all that is possible to establish Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla as foremost among household articles on account of its purity and effectiveness.
After all, each individual has, at all times, the great battle of life or death to fight, and for security attention must necessarily be given to the best weapons which science can offer humanity in the great contest.

A SICK MAN.
Lying faint and weak
With a throbbing brain
There's a voice so cheery Soothing all my pain.
In a room adjacent
Tis my precious wife;
Loving, tender, patient,
Jewel of my life.
Whistling as she stitens;
Singing as she sews;
Like a dream, she sings
How the music grows;
And the heart strings tingle
As it moves along
In the merry jingle
Of some childhood's song.
Now some deeper feeling,
Or some subtle whim,
Better finds revealing
In an "old-time" hymn;
And the sprightly measure
Finds a minor tone
To express her pleasure
Pure and all her own.
Then—like woodland breezes
In the month of June—
Comes a strain that cheers
And a sweet, glad tune—
Fragrant with completeness
Bearing on its wings,
To my soul, such sweetness,
As she sings and sings:
In Thy Care and Keeping—
And I pray that still—
Waking, Lord, or sleeping—
We may do Thy will;
Walk in glad communion
Close and out—
Have eternal union
In Thee, evermore.
L. A. Morrison, in N. Y. Graphic.

'LET THEM WHISTLE.'
Dr. Talmage Discourses on Fam-ilar and Homely Themes.
It is a prevalent notion that a propensity to whistle indicates an indolent or trivial nature, writes Rev. Dr. Talmage in the Chicago Times. When we are indulging in it by soliloquy and some one meets us we stop short, snapping the whistle in two, as though we had been doing something disrespectable. There is nothing more healthful than this exercise. The faculty has been granted to those of us who can sing much. Through my mind our way in a tune if we attempted the customary soprano or bass, we revel in the sounds which, without any skill, rush with the breath through the contracted lips. Grumblers seldom, if ever, whistle. The note is left only for the blithe and cheerful. Whether it is the whistle
that makes the good cheer, or the good
cheer that makes the whistle, we have now
no time to analyze. This kind of music is an inspiring accompaniment of work. Let musicians be busy on the scaffolding,
their strength alike, their hods and trowels
alike, the one who whistles will better set
the bricks and rear the trust wall. Do not rob us of any of our helps. What the world wants is an abundance of diversions and entertainments; not less skip
and romp and curvetting, but more. God
has no objections to it or He would not fill
the kitten with play and the lamb with
frisk and the dog with frolic, and the
child with the night and around the gable,
with mouth full of whistle.
We know not why women with all their
cares should be denied the exercise, and
yet an ungallant rhyme has for ages condemned it. Do tell us something that women may do! You do not want them to skate or lecture or preach or walk too fast
or laugh very loud, and you finish your
long list of prohibitions by saying:
"Whistling girls and women have Always come to some bad end."
There are times in a woman's life when
a psalm-tune does not seem particularly appropriate and a carol seems too formidable
to attack—the former is too grave and the latter too jocular—and nothing on earth is consonant with the circumstances but a whistle. That privilege shall not be denied
if we have any thing to say about it.
Soon after going on board a steamer we
noticed a little peevish instrument that hung
to the boatwain's jacket. On such a simple thing you would not suppose a man
could make more than one or two sounds,
but that little instrument can play a hundred tunes, and at its call, cables, conge-
ring, rigging, sails, colors, boats and anchor respond, and the crew fly swiftly from
hammock to capstan and from capstan
to ratline. After eight days of head
wind we heard the boatwain's junk, resounding whistle. It meant that
the wind had changed and the sails must
go up. There was in that peevish whistle
more music than in any harp we have since
heard, and when it fell down again from
the boatwain's lips we re-examined it
to see where all that chirrup and cluck of
sound and shrillness of blast could hide themselves. Thus we sail on in life, and sometimes in the teeth of a head
wind, and it is tough navigation.
Our whistle, dangling to the neck,
seems of no use. Every thing is against us, but after awhile there is a change in the moon, and the wind that was
adverse wheels around and into our favor.
Then we take up our whistle and, all having on deck, the sails arise and the port looms
up in the distance. If at such a time we make more noise with our mouth than we
ought to charge it to the boatwain's
whistle.
So, also, we would be less hard on all
kinds of frolicsome and noisy instruments
that are at college to be reprehended, but it is no worse now than it has always been.
It seems that some time ago the students
of a college disarranged the store signs, injured street lamps, sang discordant songs,
and disturbed the village until a commissioner of the citizens waited upon the mayor,
and a large group of the young men were
arrested, taken before the authorities,
threatened with the penitentiary, and their
names telegraphed throughout the land. People say: "What are our colleges coming to?" and "What
a generation of wayward young
men are marching on to take possession of
our institutions!" If staid, orthodox, solid colleges do so, what may we expect of institutions reckless and anti-Calvinistic?
My friends, there is no cause of alarm;
the boys are doing just what their
fathers and grandfathers did before them.
As long as I can remember I was shown
the place on the roof of the college
building where one bright morning
there were found a load of wood
and a mule attached to the load, all
raised to that bad eminence by the
sophomore class during the night—some
of the men engaged in the achievement
afterward Senators of the United States
and doctors of divinity. I reprehend the young men who in Princeton put an undertaker's sign on an apothecary store, and I
chide them to be more careful, while at the same time I give it as my opinion that they sometimes have overheard the recital in
some minister's study, or lawyer's office,
of the college pranks in which their fathers
and grandfathers participated. Boys will be boys—that is, boys that turn out good for any thing. While I set myself against all youthful mischief, as every one must, and
suggest that when these young men sing at
night as far as possible they confine themselves to church tunes and retire at ten o'clock in the evening, punctually, that all
is lost because their sons are sometimes a little frisky, and public officials ought to be lenient in their chastisement. These young men do not need a cell in the penitentiary, as I have seen it filled, but they
need a private talk by some kind old man,

judge or professor, or college president, who will put his spectacles up on his forehead and take the young man by the hand and tell him of the great possibilities that are open before industry and sobriety, and of the grief that his ill behavior will bring to parental hearts so anxious for his welfare, and then say: "That is all, my son." But this throwing ourselves back on frigid dignity and in mer-less condemnation of the present, as though the past had all the virtue and all the honor and all the propriety, is an assumption hypocritical and unjustifiable.
Now I am resolved, and will, you, kind reader, join me in the resolution, to be in good humor with men and women, boys and girls, and sweeten our judgments. If people want to whistle let us join in the exercise, and if boys will be boys, let us not conclude they are going to ruin.
We know people so genial that their face is always full of sunshine and there is no night there. When they have trouble we can scarcely tell whether they are crying or laughing. The grave of tears dissolves against a bank of smiles. But there are others who are explosive and gunpowder under slight provocation. There is such a thing (who would have thought it!) as a snappy editor. When you put your hat and coat on, you look up for a long while. You stand with your hat in hand, thinking what a luxury it would be to be asked to sit down. While you are meditating the best way of attracting his attention he suddenly looks over his shoulder and says: "What is it?" There is a flash in the eye and a venom in the tone that you feel yourself a villain, though previously you had supposed yourself honest.
Before you get through telling him what you want he is at another editorial, and he finally puts you off by telling you he can not attend to you now. You back out with apologies for interruption, but inwardly resolving that you will never risk your life again in an editorial sanctusantry.
There is such a thing as a snappy railroad conductor. When he announces the name of a depot he bites off the first letter and the last syllable. It is at your peril you ask him the name of the next place. While you are deciding in which of your eight pockets you put your ticket, he gazes upon you devoutly, as much as to say: "I have you now; you expected to get a ride without paying for it, eh?"
If you venture to tell him that the car is very cold, he will freeze you still worse with a wondering stare.
If you ask him why there is no water on the train, he will throw over you the wet blanket of a curt reply, and that is water enough. He is snappy to the old whistle. The note is left only for the blithe
and cheerful. Whether it is the whistle
that makes the good cheer, or the good
cheer that makes the whistle, we have now
no time to analyze. This kind of music is
an inspiring accompaniment of work. Let
musicians be busy on the scaffolding,
their strength alike, their hods and trowels
alike, the one who whistles will better set
the bricks and rear the trust wall. Do not
rob us of any of our helps. What the
world wants is an abundance of diver-
sions and entertainments; not less skip
and romp and curvetting, but more. God
has no objections to it or He would not fill
the kitten with play and the lamb with
frisk and the dog with frolic, and the
child with the night and around the gable,
with mouth full of whistle.
We know not why women with all their
cares should be denied the exercise, and
yet an ungallant rhyme has for ages
condemned it. Do tell us something that women may do! You do not want them to
skate or lecture or preach or walk too fast
or laugh very loud, and you finish your
long list of prohibitions by saying:
"Whistling girls and women have Always come to some bad end."
There are times in a woman's life when
a psalm-tune does not seem particularly appropriate and a carol seems too formidable
to attack—the former is too grave and the
latter too jocular—and nothing on earth is
consonant with the circumstances but a whistle. That privilege shall not be denied
if we have any thing to say about it.
Soon after going on board a steamer we
noticed a little peevish instrument that hung
to the boatwain's jacket. On such a simple thing you would not suppose a man
could make more than one or two sounds,
but that little instrument can play a hundred tunes, and at its call, cables, conge-
ring, rigging, sails, colors, boats and anchor
respond, and the crew fly swiftly from
hammock to capstan and from capstan
to ratline. After eight days of head
wind we heard the boatwain's junk,
resounding whistle. It meant that
the wind had changed and the sails must
go up. There was in that peevish whistle
more music than in any harp we have since
heard, and when it fell down again from
the boatwain's lips we re-examined it
to see where all that chirrup and cluck of
sound and shrillness of blast could hide
themselves. Thus we sail on in life, and
sometimes in the teeth of a head
wind, and it is tough navigation.
Our whistle, dangling to the neck,
seems of no use. Every thing is
against us, but after awhile there is a change in the moon, and the wind that was
adverse wheels around and into our favor.
Then we take up our whistle and, all having on deck, the sails arise and the port looms
up in the distance. If at such a time we
make more noise with our mouth than we
ought to charge it to the boatwain's
whistle.
So, also, we would be less hard on all
kinds of frolicsome and noisy instruments
that are at college to be reprehended, but it is
no worse now than it has always been.
It seems that some time ago the students
of a college disarranged the store signs, injured street lamps, sang discordant songs,
and disturbed the village until a commissioner of the citizens waited upon the mayor,
and a large group of the young men were
arrested, taken before the authorities,
threatened with the penitentiary, and their
names telegraphed throughout the
land. People say: "What are our
colleges coming to?" and "What
a generation of wayward young
men are marching on to take possession of
our institutions!" If staid, orthodox, solid
colleges do so, what may we expect of institutions reckless and anti-Calvinistic?
My friends, there is no cause of alarm;
the boys are doing just what their
fathers and grandfathers did before them.
As long as I can remember I was shown
the place on the roof of the college
building where one bright morning
there were found a load of wood
and a mule attached to the load, all
of the men engaged in the achievement
afterward Senators of the United States
and doctors of divinity. I reprehend the young men who in Princeton put an under-
taker's sign on an apothecary store, and I
chide them to be more careful, while at the
same time I give it as my opinion that they
sometimes have overheard the recital in
some minister's study, or lawyer's office,
of the college pranks in which their fathers
and grandfathers participated. Boys will be
boys—that is, boys that turn out good for
any thing. While I set myself against all
youthful mischief, as every one must, and
suggest that when these young men sing at
night as far as possible they confine themselves to church tunes and retire at ten
o'clock in the evening, punctually, that all
is lost because their sons are sometimes a
little frisky, and public officials ought to be lenient in their chastisement. These
young men do not need a cell in the penitentiary, as I have seen it filled, but they
need a private talk by some kind old man,

LEGAL.
Town Order No. 31.
An Ordinance pertaining to sewerage in the town of Reno.
[Adopted May 8th, 1889.]
BY VIRTUE OF THE POWER AND AUthority conferred by the laws of the State of Nevada, the Board of County Commissioners do ordain as follows:
Section 1. That no person shall construct or maintain, or suffer to be or remain upon his premises, or premises under his control, any privy or privy vault, cesspool, sink or drain, without connecting the same by means of iron-stone, vitrified earthen or iron pipe, with the street or alley sewer, in such manner that it shall be effectually drained and purified if there be a sewer in the street or alley on which said premises may now be or hereafter be situated, with which the same can be connected. Every drain or branch sewer hereafter constructed which shall connect with a dwelling or building, or with a privy, privy vault or cesspool, shall be provided with some apparatus or means by which such drain or branch sewer may be effectually flushed or cleansed; and, also,
shall be provided with a trap or apparatus which will practically prevent the escape of gases from the sewer into such dwelling house, building, privy, privy vault or cesspool, which trap or apparatus shall be within and placed at such a point as to be readily and conveniently examined and inspected.
Section 2. That it is hereby made the duty of all persons who are required to connect with the sewers as provided in the foregoing section to do so within thirty days after having received a written or printed notice from the Chief of Police or other duly authorized police officer, whose duty it is, and shall be,
to serve said notice as soon as practical hereafter upon all persons owning or occupying property adjoining or abutting any street or alley through which sewers are now or may hereafter be laid, and should any such person or persons fail to make the connection within the said time or in the manner prescribed, or otherwise violate the provisions of the said Section One, he or she, or they, shall be deemed guilty of a nuisance, and on conviction thereof, shall be liable to a fine of Two Hundred Dollars, or imprisoned in the County Jail and not less than Five Dollars nor more than Twenty-five Dollars, at the discretion of the Court.
Section 3. All ordinances and parts of ordinance in conflict with this are hereby repealed.
T. K. HYMERS,
Chairman Board of County Commissioners.

Town Ordinance No. 32.
An Ordinance pertaining to the closing of hydrants.
[Adopted May 8, 1889.]
BY VIRTUE OF THE POWER AND AUthority conferred by the laws of the State of Nevada the Board of County Commissioners do ordain as follows:
Section 1. That, when an alarm of fire is given, all persons are hereby notified to close all hydrants, except those using hy-drants to protect against fire, and keep the same closed until the fire is effectually put under control.
Section 2. Any person violating the provisions of Section One shall be deemed guilty of a nuisance, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than Five Dollars
nor more than Twenty-five Dollars, at the
discretion of the Court.
T. K. HYMERS,
Chairman Board of County Commissioners.
Attest:
T. V. JULIEN, Clerk.

Summons.
In the District Court of the State of Nevada,
in and for the County of Washoe.
THE STATE OF NEVADA SENDS TO
A. Z. FRANKLIN, residing in the County of Washoe, hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by LENA
M. FRANKLIN as plaintiff in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the date of the service of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served on said defendant, or twenty days, if served on said defendant, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment will be rendered against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover the judgment and decree of said court annulling the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between you and the said plaintiff, on the ground of failure of your part to provide for the plaintiff the common necessaries of life, such failure and neglect on your part not being the result of any industry, all of which will now be considered as part of the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County, and to which you are especially referred.
And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint within the time specified, the said Court will consider the plaintiff's application for relief demanded.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court this 5th day of May, A. D. 1889.
